

Community & Me

PhotoVoice

Fostered by Plumtree Children's Services

PhotoVoice enables children to share their unique community perspectives and experiences through photography.

Our aim is for all children to participate and have their voices heard, but we understand support may be needed.

Parents or carers can help their child by holding the phone or camera, making suggestions on what to photograph, or interpreting their child's behaviour as something they like in the community.

Plumtree will use the photos and what children like about the experience to create stories that show what children with disability like doing, why they enjoy it and how the experience could be improved.

Inclusion starts with 'welcome'

Our aim is to encourage communities to create more places and spaces accessible to children with disability where they feel welcome.

There are lots of things to do in my community

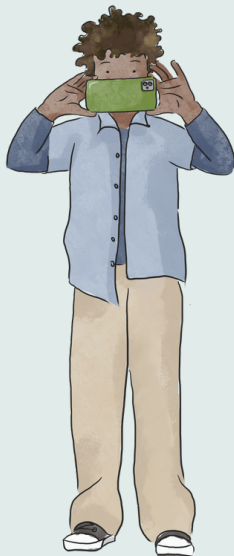

Things like playing a sport, going to a park or the shops, or going to a special event with my family.

All kids get to do these things but sometimes I need some help to do the same things as other kids.

I can take photos to show what I like to do in my community.

My family can help me take photos.

I can take photos of things I like to do in my community.

Things that make me feel good.
Things that help me to feel welcome.

I will talk with my family about the photos. They will send the photos and my words to Plumtree.

My photos and words will help other kids like me to do things in the community.

Are you happy to take photos and tell Plumtree about them?

YES

NO

Funding for this project was awarded to Plumtree Children's Services through the Information, Linkages and Capacity Building program of the Department of Social Services (DSS).