

The School Experience

A parent panel

Starting school is an exciting time for families as it marks the transition to formal schooling.

This session is for families who are preparing their children for school.

Get more than just the facts when you hear from parents whose children are now attending a range of school settings. Families are a great source of information for other families.

Come along to explore:

- The various school options
- Tips from families who have been through the transition to school experience
- What each school setting offers.
