Parents leading for positive outcomes

Parents attend many meetings with professionals to get the best outcomes for their children. Getting the best from these meetings relies on parents being prepared and proactive.

In this session, we will share practical strategies and a framework to help ensure that you are prepared for meetings and can lead them with greater confidence. Better meetings mean better outcomes for our children.

Come along to learn more about the importance of:

- Leading the meeting so that your vision for your child is central
- Listening to everyone in the team
- Ensuring that everyone understands their role after the meeting
- Suggestions on how to follow up with the meeting recommendations to maximise outcomes for your child
